Madrid 18th December, 2021. Lobster, the only mobile network in Spain to offer a service completely in English, celebrates its third anniversary today! After just three short years Lobster has established itself as the benchmark mobile network for British expatriates, and other English speakers, who reside in Spain.

Brexit brought with it a lot of uncertainty for British living in Spain, but one thing for certain is that Lobster customers continue to enjoy a great mobile service in Spain with no changes. The same cannot be said for British in Spain using their UK SIMs. One of the changes that we are now seeing after Brexit is that many UK mobile networks are introducing mobile charges when roaming in Spain. These mobile roaming charges can be very expensive and lead to bill shocks.

Lobster has always recommended getting a local SIM in Spain for British expatriates, and other English speakers. With Lobster you can be in Spain for as long as you like and use your tariff plan as much as you like, and never have to worry about any mobile roaming charges or bill shocks.
